Council Hears Discussion Of Light Question

Meeting at High School Auditorium Is Attended by Representatives of Organized Labor and Local Business Men Who Engage In an Interesting Discussion Of The Municipal Light Plant Matter

JOHN Z. WHITE, OF ILLINOIS, TALKS FOR TRADES' COUNCIL

Ohio Light & Power Company's Proposition Defended By Company's Counsel, J. R. Fitzgibbon—Attorney J. A. Flory Talks Against Proposed Contract and Promises Referendum if Contract is Made—Attorney Stasel, In Address Promises Referendum if City Council Passes Bond Issue Ordinance.

Newark's official family sat for three hours Wednesday night at the high school auditorium and heard expressions of opinion from Newark citizens upon the question of municipal ownership and the advisability of repairing the present plant or purchasing current of the Ohio Light & Power company for lighting the city's streets.

Two hundred people attended the meeting. The crowd was made up largely of members of local trades unions and with a few exceptions, the expressions from those organizations were in the form of resolutions adopted by the various bodies, declaring for municipal ownership. Few of them entered into the merits of the case, failing to discuss the probable cost of production of current by the city as compared with the price quoted by the light company.

When the meeting was adjourned at 11 o'clock, council was no nearer the solution of the problem which they have been facing for more than three months, than when the meeting opened.

Addresses by J. A. Flory, J. R. Fitzgibbon, A. A. Stasel of Newark and Hon. John Z. White of Illinois, once candidate for U. S. Senator who spoke for the Trades & Labor Assembly. His address was a splendid defense of municipal ownership, but he also failed to touch upon the question of which of the two propositions considered by council would be the most economical.

Most of those who attended the meeting with their minds open to conviction either way, were disappointed that no statement was made by city officials regarding the cost of operating the plant in the past and the kilo-watt hour cost of current. Service Director Christian was cross examined by Harry P. Scott who developed that the city had no accurate record of the kilo-watt hour consumption by the present street lighting system. Mr. Christian stated that Mr. Morrison of the Ohio Light & Power company, found the meters at the municipal station out of order. This was concurred in by a representative of the Western Electric company. Mr. Christian's estimates of cost, he said, were based upon the stated consumption per kilo-watt hour as fixed by the manufacturers for each style of street lamp now in use. He said that no loss of leakage in the distribution system had been figured in his calculations.

The meeting was called to order about the usual time for council meetings, past 8 o'clock. President Keller presided and with him on the stage sat Mayor Bigbee, members of council, Auditor Dodd, Treasurer Frye, Service Director Christian, Safety Director Daxton and Electrical Engineer H. L. Hittner of Mt. Vernon.

In opening the meeting, President Keller stated the purposes of the session, to determine whether it was more economical for the city to rehabilitate the old plant and manufacture its own current or purchase current from the Ohio Light & Power company. He called attention to the fact that the question of manufacturing commercial current at the municipal plant did not enter into the matter at all and asked the speakers to confine themselves to the subject. He asked the delegates to furnish their names and the organization represented. There were called upon in turn.

Col. Cliff Rosebrough, representing Painters and Decorators Union No. 356, and secretary of the Trades & Labor Assembly read resolutions adopted by the Assembly and approved by the decorators. These resolutions approved municipal ownership, recommended the rehabilitation of the old plant and opposed entering into a contract with the Ohio Light & Power Company.

William Muhlenberg, representing the American Glass Workers' Union submitted a resolution favoring municipal ownership. The resolution was adopted at the last regular meeting of the union.

Joseph S. Woodward, who is clerk of the city council, but who represented Newark Lodge No. 13, Knights of Pythias reported to the meeting that at the last regular meeting of the lodge, with a large number of members present, it was unanimously voted to rehabilitate the old plant. As to moving the plant to the waterworks station he declared there was a strong sentiment in favor of this proposition.

He declared that such a change would mean that no increase of labor would be necessary, the move would leave the present light plant building for use as a city barn, saving $300 per year rental for a barn, save the expense of hauling coal, which would be dumped directly from the railroad cars into bins at the waterworks station with no extra expense and no loss of coal. He quoted figures to show that the plant could be equipped and installed and paid for in 10 years and that the city would still have left a plant good for ten years more of service.

He allowed an expense of $30,000 the amount called for in the bond issue, though the engineers figures estimated the cost at $29,000. He divided the expense of the first year's operation in four items, fuel $4600, oil and supplies $420, interest on the $30,000 bonds, $1500, retiring three bonds in the first year, $3000 a total of $9520.

He declared that this would produce 950,000 kilo-watt hours of current, sufficient to add the 150 new lights now being demanded. He said that the 950,000 kilo-watt hours produced, if purchased from the Ohio Light & Power company would cost $10,450 per year.

He said that it would be necessary if the city bought the current, to continue to employ a switchboard man at a cost of not less than $2 per night for the whole year; an added expense of $730. This added to the amount paid for current would show an annual expense of $11,180. The city's plan would effect a saving of $1660 per year, which would be added to the saving of barn rental which would total $1960 for the year.

Mr. Woodward pointed out that the yearly expense would be cut (Continued on Page 10, Col. 1.)

AMERICA FRIENDLY TO JAPAN

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Tokio, Feb. 11.—Prof. Shailer Mathews of the University of Chicago, who under the auspices of the federal council of Churches of Christ in America, has come out to Japan to foster cordial relations between the empire and the United States, delivered an address today before the Concordia association. Among the prominent Japanese who heard him were Prime Minister Kato and Baron Shibusawa, president of the American-Japanese association, and president of the Tokio Banking association.

Prof. Mathews said that a canvass of representative Americans by himself and Prof. Sydney Gulick of New York, who also is in Japan, on the same errand which has brought Professor Mathews, had showed unanimously that America was sincerely friendly to Japan. The United States harbored no aggressive designs, he declared, and was not hostile to the expansion of Japanese commerce in China.

Foreign Minister Kato replied with the same frankness. While Japan's ambition was the development of her place in the world, this ambition was entirely laudable and did not contemplate injury to either the United States or China. He admitted that restriction of alien land ownership in California often times had been exaggerated. The economic interests at stake were slight, he said. Nevertheless, Japan felt keenly this racial discrimination which offended her dignity and honor.

May Allow Present Ship Bill To Die In Committee and New One Will be Substituted In House

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Washington, Feb. 11.—The situation in the fight over the administration ship bill underwent a complete change today as the result of conferences between President Wilson and congress leaders.

It was determined to relax the fight in the senate, thus suspending the historic filibuster, while the important appropriation bills are passed. Meanwhile, Senator Gore's substitute for the administration bill will be introduced in the house as an amendment to the Weeks bill, another ship measure, which already has passed the senate. Under a special rule it would be perfected to meet the views of the administration, and then be presented to the senate for action as a new proposition.

The present bill over which the long fight has ensued would be allowed to die in committee.

When the new bill comes over from the house, if the fight in the senate is renewed upon it, President Wilson will decide whether to call an extra session of congress for consideration of the ship bill alone. His advisers in congress today were giving him advice in both directions. At the White House the president's determination to pass the bill was reiterated and it was said a decision as to an extra session awaited the developments in congress.

In the house tentative arrangements were made to take up the ship bill immediately after passage of the pending sundry civil bill. It was expected the ship bill could be put through next week.

GREAT BRITAIN SEIZES CARGO OF WILHELMINA

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Falmouth, Feb. 11.—Via London.—The cargo of the American steamer Wilhelmina was seized by the British authorities here today in accordance with the decision of the foreign office. The cargo is to go to a prize court.

The St. Louis commission house, owning the cargo, and perhaps the Wilhelmina's owners will be represented by counsel before the court but the state department, though deeply interested in the outcome will content itself at present by instructing the American ambassador at London to observe the progress of the case carefully. The decision of the prize court is not necessarily binding upon the United States and it may be made the subject of a protest and diplomatic negotiations at the discretion of the state department.

In the document which has been transmitted to Ambassador Gerard at Berlin for presentation to the German foreign office, there is a friendly but pointed statement that American vessels should have free and unobstructed passage through the high seas and unobstructed waters and that destruction of American vessels might lead to a change in the hitherto friendly relations which have existed between the United States and Germany.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
New York, 11.—Mrs. Chester M. Knepper, wife of a retired captain in the United States navy, fell or jumped overboard from the steamship Niagara during a storm on the evening of Feb. 3, and was drowned. Mrs. Knepper and her husband were returning from France, where they have been living for some time. The Niagara arrived here today from Havre.

When Mrs. Knepper was seen in the water lighted buoys were thrown to her and a boat was lowered. The ship was stopped and for over an hour the sailors searched in vain.

EXPECT BRITISH TO CAPTURE SHIP WITH COTTON CARGO

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Norfolk, Va., Feb. 11.—The American steamer Dacia finally sailed today with her cargo of cotton for Germany, which goes via Rotterdam.

Great Britain has threatened to seize the ship, questioning her transfer from German to American register and she has already been the subject of diplomatic correspondence between the United States and Great Britain. It is generally expected that a British cruiser take her somewhere before she arrives in European waters and that the case will be fought out in a prize court.

GERMAN REPORT SAYS GAINS MADE IN THE ARGONNE

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Berlin, Feb. 11.—By wireless to London.—At the war office today the following statement was issued: "In the western theatre of war, an attack on the Argonne resulted in a gain of ground for us. Six officers, 397 men, two machine guns and six small cannon were captured. In the central and southern Vosges we also gained a few small local successes."

In the Polish theatre on the right bank of the Vistula an advance brought us into the district north-west of Sierp where our opponents were repulsed. One hundred prisoners were taken.

German Army Officials Are In Conference

Emperor William Returns Hurriedly from the War Theatre And Meets Well Known Leaders—Ruler Depressed Over Price In Men Paid by Germany Over Comparatively Limited Advances Against Entrenched Russians

EFFORT WILL BE MADE TO TRANSFER FIGHTING ZONE

Fighting In the Carpathians Works Hardships On the Armies of Both Sides and Results Gained Are Dearly Purchased—Situation is Becoming Clearer In Extreme North and Germans Are Rushing Reinforcements There—Fighting In Western Arena of War is of Little Importance at Present.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
London, Feb. 11.—The situation in the eastern arena of the fighting is occupying the attention of the military authorities in Berlin in very large degree, if reliance may be placed on news dispatches reaching London from the continent. According to these, Emperor William returned hurriedly to Berlin, from the Polish war theatre and at once held a prolonged military conference, summoning for this purpose General von Moltke, Count von Altenberg, General von Kessel, and many other well known leaders.

According to the correspondents of certain neutral Danish newspapers, Emperor William finds the situation generally hopeful, but he is described as greatly depressed over the terrible price in men Germany has had to pay for comparatively limited advances against the entrenched Russians. One account reaching Paris by way of Warsaw, places the German losses on the Bzura and the Rawka fronts at 45,000 dead.

This report is absolutely without confirmation and it has not even been repeated from any other source. Nevertheless, Danish military critics say Emperor William has protested against this slaughter and that as a result an effort will be made by the German war staff to transfer the fighting to some points where the Russians are less formidably entrenched.

The Russian reports of the fighting from the extreme north to the extreme southeast of the line through Poland continue optimistic. The loss of some ground to the Teutonic allies in Bukovina appears to have been more than offset by what the dispatches from Petrograd describe as the strategic importance of the Russian gains in the Carpathians.

The British press finds much cause for comment in the Austrian official admission that "the fighting is heavy and vexatious."

In the Carpathians it is evident that both sides find the fighting among snow-covered passes, with only the most precarious connection with their sources of supplies, a warfare in which the results gained are very dearly purchased.

In the extreme north, where the Russians have been conducting a flank movement against the forces of Emperor William in East Prussia the situation is becoming clearer. The Germans have rushed heavy reinforcements thither, and with these men they expect to be able to forestall the Russian advance.

The Russians, however, already appear to be in a position threatening Insterburg, from which German towns the population is reported to have been advised to depart until the present military operations are concluded.

In the western arena of the war the fighting for the past few days has been of relatively small importance and the promised big effort of one side or the other is still delayed pending the advent of more favorable weather.

The situation in the Balkan states appears to London observers to be rapidly crystallizing. Bulgaria will receive a large consignment of her German loan within the next few days. Rumania is finding that Austria-Hungary is clamoring for a definite statement of her attitude. Nevertheless, she shows her intention prematurely to reveal her intentions, and the entente powers, Great Britain, France and Russia, seem to be quite satisfied that Rumania's ultimate action will be on their side.

FRENCH WAR OFFICE GIVES OUT REPORT

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Paris, Feb. 11.—The French war office this afternoon gave out a report on the progress of the fighting which reads as follows:

"Along all of the front as far as Champagne there were artillery exchanges. In the northern region there were several aeroplane expeditions on our part as well as on the part of the enemy. The projectiles dropped by the aeroplanes of the enemy within our lines did no damage."

"In Champagne a German attack against our position in the forest to the north of Mesnil-Les-Hurlus recently occupied by us, was repulsed."

"In the Argonne, the fighting in the vicinity of the Maria Theresa earthworks has been very violent. According to the latest reports received here, the German forces amount to about one brigade. We have maintained all our positions. The losses of the enemy are considerable and ours are serious."

"In the Vosges, there has been a thick fog and abundant snow. It was during a very dark night that there occurred the infantry engagement reported yesterday at La Fontenelle, in the San de Sept. The Germans had at least two battalions of troops present. After having ceded some ground our troops recaptured everything they gave up. This was during the day of Feb. 10, and it was accomplished by a series of counter attacks."

CLAIM GERMANS GAINING GROUND

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Berlin, via London, Feb. 11.—The correspondent in the Carpathians of the Berlin Tageblatt telegraphs his paper that the offensive spirit of the Russian forces in this arena of the war appears to have been broken. They are contenting themselves with a defense by artillery against the German attack. They have lost in round numbers 10,000 men in dead, wounded and prisoners since the end of January.

The Austrians and the Germans are gaining ground steadily according to this correspondent. A serious battle is going on before Dukla Pass. Russian captives complain of insufficient food and no pay for three months. Many of them were sent to the front after a two week's drill.

CAN CONTEST REFERENDUM ELECTIONS

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Columbus, Feb. 11.—The Kramer "honest elections bill," passed by the house yesterday, but with nine opposing votes, was on its way to the senate today. This bill makes possible the contesting of referendum elections.

One of the chief provisions of the measure would remedy the law, which fails to provide for a recount of ballots in such cases as that sought by anti-saloon interests on the home rule amendment adopted at the November elections.

The bill provides that all ballots shall be considered invalid in precincts where bribery and corruption are shown to have existed in the referendum election and the supreme court is given jurisdiction in all contests of referendum in state-wide elections. The court also is empowered to order a recount of ballots in any precinct or township in the state. Other elections of the measure provide machinery for bringing about a recount and the holding of ballots by county boards of election.

Any Ohio citizen could vote in a state election, even though he might be in a foreign country on election day, according to an absent voting bill which the house elections committee today decided to draft. Senator Wickline of Summit, is preparing a similar

A VALUABLE SUGGESTION

IMPORTANT TO EVERYONE

It is now conceded by physicians that the kidneys should have more attention as they control the other organs to a remarkable degree and do a tremendous amount of work in removing the poisons and waste matter from the system by filtering the blood.

During the winter months especially, when we live an indoor life the kidneys should receive some assistance when needed, as we take less exercise, drink less water and often eat more rich, heavy food, thereby forcing the kidneys to do more work than Nature intended. Evidence of kidney trouble, such as lame back, annoying bladder troubles, smarting or burning, brick-dust or sediment, sallow complexion, rheumatism, may be weak or irregular heart action, warns you that your kidneys require help immediately to avoid more serious trouble.

Many physicians claim that an herbal medicine containing no minerals or opiates has the most healing influence. An ideal herbal compound that has had most remarkable success as a kidney and bladder remedy is Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root.

You may receive a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by Parcel Post. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and enclose ten cents; also mention The Newark Daily Advocate.

Will Cigarettes Make A Woman Lose Hair?

College Professor Says Smoking Breeds the Dandruff Germs

Every woman—and man too—troubled with thin, scanty hair, will be interested in the statement of the university specialist who says that tobacco smoking causes dandruff and other scalp diseases. This may account for the lack of beautiful, lustrous hair in many persons addicted to the habit.

The specialist has found that smoking causes poor blood circulation, and stops the needed nourishment from finding its way through the capillaries to the hair roots, which then get unhealthy and are attacked by the dandruff germs. It is then certain that the only way to regain long, healthy hair growth is to destroy the germ! How? Taking medicine internally won't do it. Giving the hair roots nourishment from the outside will do it. Let your sick hair follicles, the little pores holding the hairs, have the food denied them by poor blood circulation—give your scalp a chance to breathe, and your hair will grow naturally of itself.

"Wildroot" proves its surprising value the first few days, for the dandruff scurf falls from the head in showers on combing. But more important, the sick hair pores absorb its nourishing, cooling, vegetable oils in which no "itch-tormenting" dandruff germ can live. Drug stores always have "wildroot" in stock and a large, inexpensive bottle will last you considerable time.

WARRANT MAY BE SERVED ON MORS TODAY

(Associated Press Telegram) New York, Feb. 11.—A warrant charging him with the murder of "Henry Horn and others," inmates of the German Odd Fellows home in Yonkers, was held in readiness today to serve on Frederick Mors, if the report of Dr. M. S. Gregory, alienist of Bellevue hospital declares Mors to be sane.

On February 2, Mors voluntarily told an assistant district attorney that he methodically killed eight aged men and women residents of the home, where he was employed.

Opinion in the district attorney's office in Westchester and the Bronx was that Mors' story that he "hastened the deaths" of eight home inmates might be true. It was said positively, however, that investigation has shown Mors could have had no accomplices.

"BLACK POPE" IS ELECTED BY THE SOCIETY OF JESUS

(Associated Press Telegram) Rome, Feb. 11.—Father Ledochowsky was today elected general of the Society of Jesus, in succession to Father Francis Xavier Wernz. The general of the society is known as the "Black Pope."

Father Wernz died August 20 in Rome, a few hours after the death of Pope Pius. Anxiety over the war is said to have hastened his end. Then Father Fines, the assistant Jesuit general for France, was selected to head the order, which he did until the present election.

Father Ledochowsky was formerly assistant general for Germany. He is a nephew of the late Cardinal Ledochowsky.

CATARRH GERMS EASILY KILLED

Only Way To Cure This Disease Is To Destroy Its Cause.

By A Specialist.

If you have catarrh and want to get rid of it you must kill the germs which cause the catarrh. Stomach, duodenum, etc., but because they overlook this fact. They all help by giving temporary relief but they do not reach the germ life that has found lodgement in your head, nose, throat, and could not destroy it if they did.

The best known way of destroying the dangerous germs of Catarrh and consequently ending the disease itself is to breathe into the air passages of your nose and throat the pleasant, penetrating air of Hyomei (pronounced High-o-mei). Hyomei is made from purest oil of Eucalyptus combined with other powerful, healing, antiseptic and germicidal ingredients. You breathe it through a little pocket inhaler which T. J. Evans and other leading druggists in Newark and vicinity are furnishing with every complete treatment sold. Every time you inhale the sweet, fragrant air of Hyomei through this little device you are drawing upon your swollen, inflamed, germ-laden membranes a medicated air which will not only reduce all the swelling and inflammation and open your clogged nose and stopped-up air passages, but will absolutely and positively destroy every trace of Catarrh germ life it reaches. Druggists are so sure of the blessed, lasting relief that Hyomei brings to catarrh sufferers that they sell it invariably on the positive guarantee that money paid will be refunded if successful results are not secured from its use. Get a Hyomei outfit from your druggist today and begin at once to drive this dangerous and disgusting disease from your system forever.

Await Assurances From Belligerents Regarding Vessels

(Associated Press Telegram) Washington, Feb. 11.—Administration officials today confidently awaited assurances from both Great Britain and Germany as to the safety of American vessels as a result of notes dispatched yesterday concerning the situation that has arisen since Germany's declaration of a sea war zone around the British Isles.

The note to Great Britain is based on the statement of the British foreign office, justifying the use of neutral flags by her merchantmen to escape capture and points out that continued use of neutral flags by her merchantmen might endanger ships which really are entitled to fly the stripes.

The note to Germany inquired what steps German naval commanders would take to verify the identity of vessels flying neutral flags in waters that Germany has declared are within the war zone.

TEACHER MOTHERS WIN THEIR FIGHT; ARE REINSTATED

(Associated Press Telegram) New York, Feb. 11.—The board of education revoked last night the suspension of Mrs. Lora H. Wagner, the high school teacher, whose application for a leave of absence, prior to the birth of her child, was refused.

The revocation resolution provided that the charge be withdrawn, and that Mrs. Wagner be restored to duty at once. Similar action was taken in sixteen other teacher-mother cases.

The action of the board of Mrs. Wagner's case and the other sixteen ends the long fight of the teacher mothers and follows a recent decision of State Commissioner of Education Finley.

BAR BANQUET

OF THE LICKING COUNTY ASSOCIATION HELD LAST EVENING

Excellent Menu Followed by Address of Judge John J. Adams—Innovation for the Diners.

The annual banquet of the Licking County Bar Association was held last evening at the Warden Hotel and was one of the most delightful of those functions of the many given by the association.

Sixty guests participated, including members of the bar, county officers and court house attaches and representatives of the local newspapers, all of whom were directed to a parlor on the second floor where coats and hats were disposed of after which they were registered and greeted by the reception committee.

At six o'clock to the music of Hawkins and Nutter's orchestra the assemblage marched to the dining room of the hotel and was seated at a long table with a smaller table at each end, the three sitting in their snowy whiteness, cut glass and silverware. Handsome bouquets of cut flowers in fancy baskets graced the festal board.

While the banquet was served by colored waiters the orchestra rendered all the late popular airs and the well known songs were sung by the diners between courses. A quartette composed of Messrs. J. W. Hermer, Bert O. Horton, B. F. McDonald and Charles L. Flory rendered several excellent songs.

The souvenirs were handsomely embossed menu cards with a Gibson girl in colors on the coverlet. Following was the menu:

After cigars had been passed Attorney Edward A. Groves, Sr., who was the toastmaster, arose and commented on the custom of fifteen years of celebrating the birthday anniversary of the oldest members of the Licking County Bar. Charles Kibler, recently deceased, Mr. Kibler then told of being associated with his father, for forty years.

Judge John J. Adams, dean of the College of Law at Ohio State University, was then introduced by Mr. Kibler and Judge Adams told of being associated with Mr. Charles Kibler on the circuit court bench. The address of Judge Adams dealt with "Reformation of Reform" and said he would be glad to get on the popular side of a question once "Reform needs reforming," said the speaker, and urged the bar to use its influence to form public opinion. "Reform of judicial reforms needs reforming," continued Judge Adams and he commented on the making of the court of appeals the court of last resort in some cases instead of the supreme court and based his criticism on the effect the new method has on the people in general, who have long considered the supreme court as the only final decision, and went on to explain this by saying that judge made laws should be as uniform throughout the state as statutory law.

"The courts of appeal is not so organized as to the proper court of last resort, because it is beyond the bounds of human possibility for eight courts to be uniform in their decisions. The law owes to the people and to themselves to agitate the reforms of 1912 in order that those evils might be corrected."

A debate was next held on the question: "Resolved: That the law providing that all candidates shall be nominated by primary election, should be repealed." and Mr. Charles W. Montgomery in presenting the affirmative side of the question said:

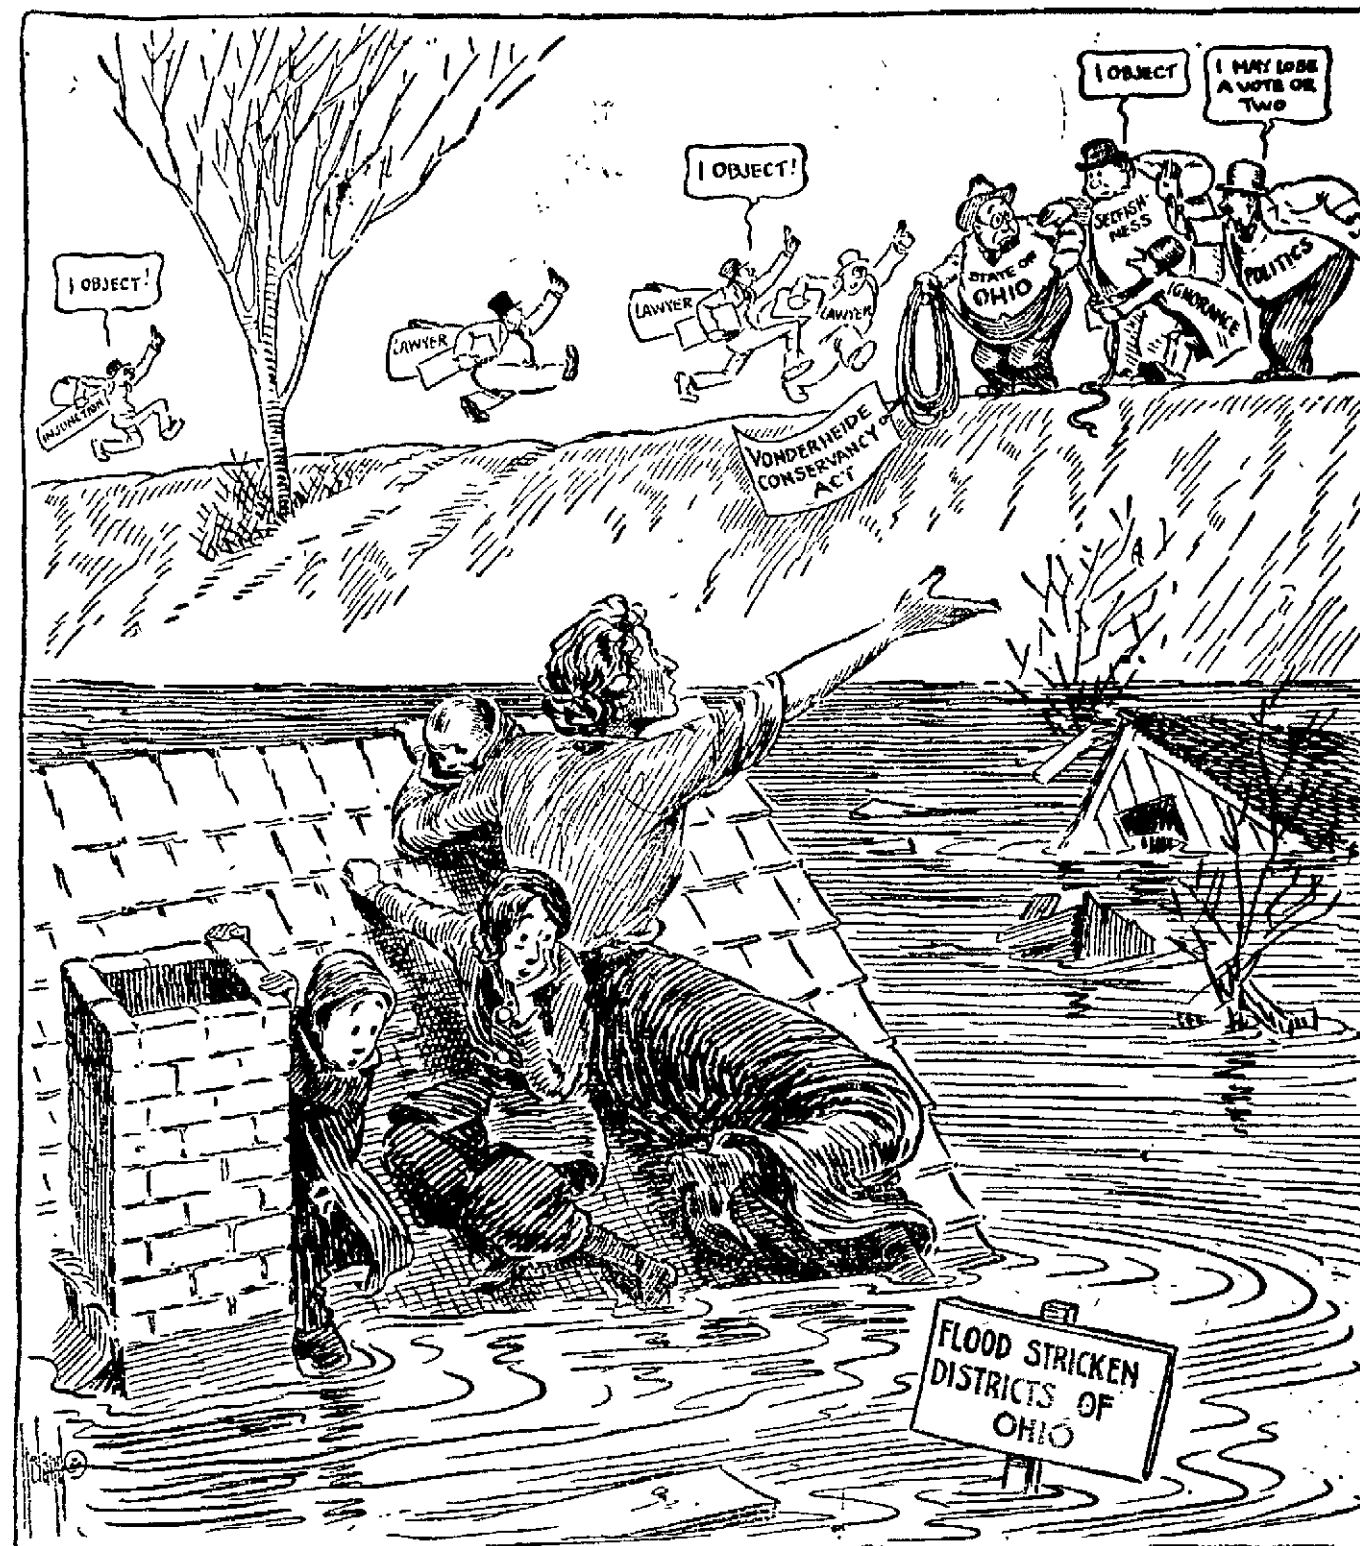

"This measure was placed in the constitution without due consideration and almost without any consideration by the public mind. It is not consistent with representative government. There is no opportunity for deliberation in reference to men or measures. It is a very expensive experiment which must be borne in part by persons with no interest in it. It was intended to do away with control by the so-called bosses, but conditions have not changed as a result. The present law because of the petition feature is addition by everybody to be had, yet no solution that is satisfactory has been offered. The present law, apparently, cannot be improved upon and any one, therefore, cannot be cured. Hence, the law was vicious in conception, unfortunate in association, and unwholesome and expensive. Its results are bad and no satisfactory results are offered."

In reply to Mr. Montgomery, Mr. Charles L. Flory, who had the negative side of the question, said:

"There is no question in the contention that the primary election law is in the same category with the proposed recall of judges, initiative and referendum, and other so-called radical reforms. For the reason that the primary law has already been tried; passed by the legislature a number of years ago its benefits are not open to conjecture, but have been fully proved. After the test had been made it to be of real worth, it was placed in the constitution. So that it is not in the same class with the so-called reforms of the day."

"The primary law superseded the system of electing delegates in every manner that the complexion of every political campaign was absolutely and easily without the control of any small number of persons who might devote their time to getting control of the convention, in other words it was the result of the working of the boss in politics. If the primary law is an attack upon the old delegate system, it was because delegate system needed attacking; it was because people knew the evil existed and figured that the primary law, having worked in other states, would bring good results in Ohio, and the fact that it is still on the statute book, proves that it has worked to a good end.

"The argument that the prohibitionist should not be compelled to contribute to a Democratic or Republican primary, has no merit. Nothing good exists in this world without sacrifice on the part of others, and if the bulk of the people determine, as they have, that primary law has purged politics and made the governmental system better, it is the duty of every taxpayer to help continue that condition."

"That it is a rich man's game in the form of a primary law, is contrary to the fact. Manifestly it is easier to buy a few delegates to a convention, than the hundreds of people who elect such delegates."

A new question was then taken up and Mr. Charles N. Moore and Mr. Roderic Jones debated on the question: "Resolved: That the law providing that all judicial officers be elected on a non-partisan ballot, should be repealed." In this debate Mr. Charles N. Moore took the affirmative and spoke as follows:

"Political parties in this country are permanent organizations. Party lines may be more or less closely distinguished at different times and at different elections in proportion as the issues are distinct or otherwise, but the party system can not be supplanted by any substitute in Republican government. History proves this.

"Their long existence in this country has imbued them with deep seated pride in their traditions, their measures and their men. They are here to stay and any elective proposal or law must reckon with them.

"For over a hundred years our state, county, and judicial officers had been elected on party tickets. All on the same ballots. Partisan influence has not been apparent in that hundred years. It has not existed. No murmur has been heard respecting it. Our party organizations as such have been proud of the judges numbered among their members not because of the partisan character of their decisions. In the nature of the case party welfare could not be advanced by partisan decisions. Party organizations know this and have not nominated that kind of men.

"The non-partisan law was therefore unnecessary which lays it open to suspicion. Further it tended to disarrange and throw into chaos an established elective system.

"Three specific charges may be made against the so-called non-partisan law.

"1. It is inconsistent in its own provisions.

"2. It is unfair to the general electorate.

"3. It is dangerous in its tendencies in that it tends to lower the dignity of the judiciary, and to elect a judiciary of inferior ability.

"It is inconsistent because while candidates are placed on separate ballots without party designation they are nominated by party primaries.

"It is unfair to the general electorate because an analysis of the judicial vote since its passage shows that only about seventy percent of the voters vote for judges.

"It is dangerous because in addition to party candidates persons may be nominated by petition, and in the number of candidates and the confusion that arises almost anyone is liable to be elected. The name that has been before the public enough to make it familiar will be the name of the successful candidate. What chance would any lawyer in Ohio have in running for the Supreme bench against Billy Sunday?"

His remarks were challenged by Roderic Jones who in speaking of the question said:

"There are two classes of reforms, one which is brought about by the necessity of redressing the very crying evil; one kind merely by the desire to make a change.

"The reforms of the first class are good; those of the second class bad. The bill providing for the election of judges on non-partisan tickets was very clearly a reform which was brought about by the necessity of redressing the serious evil and therefore was a good and proper reform. From 1900 to 1906 a combination of politics and big business had apparently been able to influence the actions of the Supreme Court of Ohio and it was the necessity of this condition which led to the passage of this act. Many instances were given of the result of this apparent influence on the courts. It is highly desirable that the judiciary of Ohio should not be afraid of anybody and certainly not of the people. But we want to be very careful that it shall not be afraid of political bosses and business influence."

INVESTIGATION

Of Conditions in Mexico to be Made by Pres. Wilson's Personal Representative.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Washington, Feb. 11.—Commissioned as President Wilson's personal representative to investigate conditions in Mexico, Duval West, of San Antonio, Texas, was on his way today to the southern republic. Mr. West, formerly United States district attorney at San Antonio, will stop off there enroute to Mexico.

The object of Mr. West's mission in addition to making general inquiries into the Mexican conditions, will be to interview such leaders as Generals Carranza, Villa, Zapata and to make plain to them the attitude of the Washington government regarding the protection of foreigners and their interests. It is understood that while he will point out the increasing necessity for permanent settlement of Mexican affairs, Mr. West does not bear any plan or suggestions from the United States.

"Potash and Perlmutter."
Direct from their second year's stay at the Colian theater, New York City, "Abe" Potash and "Mawruss" Perlmutter come to the Auditorium theater on Saturday, Feb. 13, with the latest designs in cloaks, suits and laughs. "Abe" and "Mawruss" are the lovable partners about whom Montague Glass wrote such delightful stories in "The Saturday Evening Post." He made them famous and they made him famous but Manager

MONTAGUE GLASS
Author of Potash and Perlmutter.

A. H. Woods added to the fame of all when he put "Abe" and "Mawruss" on the stage. Since then the partners have been working over-time.

The firm name is "Potash and Perlmutter"; they've got a designer named Ruth Goldman who has a head like Andrew Carnegie and a shape like Lillian Russell; a rascally lawyer named Feldman—and incidentally they have hearts of gold.

The story of "Potash and Perlmutter" revolves about the efforts of the two partners to save their new bookkeeper, Boris Andrieff, from the clutches of the Russian government. They really know little about Boris except that as a bookkeeper he is a great musician and they quarrel incessantly about him but when there is danger that the young man is to be sent back to Russia and perhaps a Siberian prison risk their every cent to save him. For a time it looks as though the partners may have to lose everything through their Quixotic ideas and Potash is going to lose besides a desirable son-in-law—when everything turns out happily. Cupid has been busy, too, with "Mawruss" and the ending is doubly happy. There are tears as well as laughter in "Potash and Perlmutter" but for the most part they are tears of joy. A splendid company of New York favorites will be seen here.

German War Films.
Actual pictures of the war in Europe taken by permission of the German government, will be shown at the Auditorium Sunday afternoon and evening. In addition to the pictures there will be a lecture, in which the various scenes will be fully explained.

The pictures promise great interest, because of the fact that every scene was taken in the war zone by a specially deputized photographer, under the direction of the German government, and who carried with him a government pass to all quarters. The Germans and allied armies are seen in actual action, and the films depict vividly the horrors of the war. Other scenes show some of the beautiful cities of Europe before and after the bombardment by the terrific 42 centimeter guns of the Germans known as the "Busey Berthas." Americans have read of these powerful centimeter guns which have been introduced, but were words cannot picture the awful devastation that follows in their wake with the clearness and detail as is shown in the camera reproduction, in which is shown these guns mounted upon their sturdy foundations, throwing their 1400 pound shells, and the destruction done by a single shell.

A feature showing the harrowing effects of battle will be the pictures of the actual engagement at Wanneburg, where it is said that 100,000 men fell, as well as engagements at other points.

HOW TO PREVENT ACID STOMACHS

AND FOOD FERMENTATION

By a Stomach Specialist

As a specialist who has spent many years in the study and treatment of stomach troubles, I have been forced to the conclusion that most people who complain of stomach trouble possess stomachs that are absolutely healthy and normal. The real trouble that which causes all the pain and difficulty is excessive acid in the stomach, aggravated by food fermentation. Hyper-acidity irritates the delicate lining of the stomach an acid fermentation causes wind which distends the stomach abnormally, causing that full bloated feeling. Thus both acid and fermentation interfere with and retard the process of digestion. The stomach is usually healthy and normal, but irritated almost past endurance by these foreign elements—acid and wind. In all such cases—and they comprise over 90 per cent of all stomach difficulties—the first and only step necessary is to neutralize the acid and stop the fermentation by taking in a little warm or cold water immediately after eating, from one to two teaspoonsful of bicarbonate of soda, which is doubtless the best and only really effective antacid and food corrector known. The acid will be neutralized and the fermentation stopped almost instantly and your stomach will at once proceed to digest the food in a healthy, normal manner. Be sure to ask Evans' drug store for the bicarbonate of soda, as I have found other forms utterly lacking in its peculiarly valuable properties.

Fifth Bulletin Is Issued By Asso. Charities

THE WORK TEST AND HOW IT WORKS.

Our work up to this week has consisted of emergency relief, pure and simple. It was difficult service rendered by busy people and it was cheerfully and well done. Yet it was inevitable that this form of relief would call out some who are always on the lookout to get as much as possible for nothing. It requires months to ascertain the facts in some cases, but "the truth will out."

The "work test" is one of the surest aids in ascertaining the truth. Where work is available, Associated Charities never gives an able bodied man aid for himself or his family unless he works for it. If he will co-operate by doing his part, Associated Charities will see him through. We have thirty men, on the street-cleaning gang five days this week, and have less than a score of applicants for aid that have not responded to this test.

And Newark approves this sort of help. Both men and women continue to send in messages commending the plan. Both individuals and societies are joining our organization daily and assure us that the end of begging and indiscriminate doling of alms is near. Transient men are coming to the office saying that when they ask for a "handout" at the back doors they are sent to us hungry.

Let churches, Sunday schools, clubs and fraternal organizations of all kinds adopt this plan or send in the names of families they help and very soon we shall have relief on a just business basis. But don't forget to send in your contributions also, for we cannot clean up Newark without money. We ask in the name of more than a thousand parents and children who look to us for relief. Please remit this week that we may continue the street work next week.

I wish to add another clipping from the Ohio State Journal, Dec. 23, 1914: ASSOCIATED CHARITY IS NOT COLD—IT'S JUDICIOUS.

"Wise giving is a business, the same as anything else. Anyone can hand out money indiscriminately, but if you do you are like Coal Oil Johnny sitting on the curb and throwing pennies to boys at play."

"The pennies don't go to the most deserving, but to the best scrapper."

"Under the personal giving system, Widow Jones gets three or four baskets of food, while Widow Smith across the street gets none."

"Is it fair to say that the Associated Charities is cold and heartless because it sees that the public alms are justly distributed?"

"Or because it prevents the professional beggar from living without working at your expense?"

A gift of food or money to the unworthy means that some worthy person must go hungry. If you don't have time to investigate the Associated Charities will do it for you.

"The integrity of the people back of this association insures that every dollar given it will be distributed where it will do the most good in this community."

Proposed Bond Issue.

Shall the city of Newark sell $30,000 worth of bonds in order to manufacture light for the city's streets, or shall it buy electricity from the local lighting company?

That is the question the city council is studying, the question the people are debating, the question that was discussed at a public meeting held in the High school auditorium last night. Within a few days the councilmen will vote yes or no upon the proposed bond issue.

In a broad sense it is the problem of municipal ownership and man, who on general principles favor publicly owned utilities unhesitatingly endorse the proposed bond issue without regard to surrounding conditions. Newark bonds amounting to $240,000 were sold only yesterday. The present bonded indebtedness of this city is approximately one million dollars and the greater part of every dollar paid by the taxpayers goes to the payment of interest upon the city's debt.

There is a limit to the debt that any city should assume.

Many times one sees an automobile, a horse or a suit of clothing he would like to own but if the man is prudent he asks himself, before buying, the very sensible question: "Can I afford it?"

Municipal ownership has an attractive sound and under proper conditions it is ideal. If the Advocate could feel that a municipally owned plant would always be operated economically, intelligently, honestly and capably—if it could be operated in a business like way and not from the politicians' viewpoint—this newspaper would be inclined to favor the proposed bond issue in spite of the already enormous bonded debt. However, it so happens that the city has an opportunity to buy electricity at practically the same price it would cost to produce it in its own plant. Some contend that the price is even lower, others that it is a trifle higher, the difference arising from the fact that no exact figures upon the cost of production are available.

As a result of the $240,000 bond issue for the subway the taxable valuation of property in South Newark will be increased but no such result is possible by the proposed issue of bonds for a lighting plant.

The Advocate believes that it is to the best interest of Newark for the city council to enter into a contract with the lighting company rather than go into the expensive and uncertain proposition of building a new plant at a time when the city's debt is already burdensome. This debt should not be increased without good reason and no large addition should be made to it without the direct consent of the people at the polls.

Resumption of Work.

The reopening of the rail mill of the Gary plant and the resumption of work at one of the largest of the Singer factories are prosperity items of interest. An increased demand for steel rails and sewing machines ought to mean an increased demand for other industrial products.—New York World.

Against Blackmail.

The United States supreme court decides that the woman, as co-conspirator, may be indicted for her part in violating the white slave law. This will go a long way toward breaking up a common blackmail practice.—Columbus Citizen.

Still, we are inclined to the belief that the constructors of the navy know a little more about warships than the gentlemen who man the hot air guns in congress.—Houston Post.

Barnyard Metaphor.

It is said the Zeppelins are giving England an attack of nerves. Not surprised. Those armored hawks of the heavens are calculated to make the stoutest chicken-hearted.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Length of Life Increasing.

In spite of the strenuousness of modern living and the tendency of men and women to gather in the cities, the statistics of mortality conclusively show that the average length of life is constantly increasing. A child at birth today may expect to live 10 years longer than if he or she had been born in 1880. If the present rate of improvement should continue for the next 200 years the average of life would be extended 60 years beyond the average of today. The main reason for latter-day longer living is the astonishing reduction in infant mortality which has been brought about by improved conditions.—Philadelphia Record.

Grave Digger's Suicide.

That Allentown grave digger who committed suicide because there was so little for him to do may be a good advertisement for the healthfulness of the city on the Lehigh, but it would have been better if he had improved his too abundant leisure by a study of the ripe philosophy of the grave diggers in Hamlet. He would there have imbibed sound ideas on the transitoriness of life and of the folly of cutting it short at 46 because the Allentowners refuse to die as rapidly as he wished. Now he provides temporary employment for a fellow-worker, but that's a poor consolation for leaving the world at this very interesting period of its fortunes.—Philadelphia Record.

Joe Rank thinks that Concordia which has 43 women's clubs, must be a town of late dinners and well-satisfied men.—Kansas City Star.

Meanwhile Americans are beginning to learn how to live within their incomes.—Chicago News.

Congress refuses to pass the literacy immigration test over the president's veto, which goes to show that both congress and the president are

Senator Cummins says President Wilson has ruined the Democratic party, and the strange part of it is that the senator is talking on about it like he's sorry.—Florida Times-Union.

The old-guard Republicans in the senate also believe in extending the war zone to the limits where they think they may be able to launch a torpedo at the ship purchase bill.—New York World.

PLAIN WRITING.

Here's a simple rule—oh, heed it, as adown this world you tread—write your name so man can read it without standing on his head. We all get so many letters bearing signatures so vile, that we tear our hair and sweaters when we ought to sing and smile. When you make your name a jumble of fool flourishes and twigs, the receiver's apt to grumble. "He has jimmies in his wrists!" If your pen's a chronic skidder, making flourishes like those, you should pause once and consider how on others you impose. For it sets their nerves a-jangle, corraining crazy signatures, striving hard to disentangle calligraphic stunts like yours. And they say, "What nerve is his, that he thus takes up our time! He should spend ten years in prison, for his writing is a crime!" Some indulge in crazy writing, thinking that it's rather smart, but the reader's life it's blighting, and it breaks some weary heart. Men will cuss you fully, freely, if your signature's insane; do not try to write like Greeley till you have a Greeley's brain.

WHY, yes, they're family pictures all You see a-hangin' on the wall. There's dad and mother, little Gabe, Aunt Mary, Caroline and Abe— Why, sure—Abe Lincoln. Well, now, he Is not exac'ly kin to me— That is, he's not my fam'ly line, But Abe's a pers'nal friend o' mine.

DID I know Lincoln? Do you mean To ask me if I ever seen Abe Lincoln? Why, of course not, man, Seein' as how my life began After his own run out. By gum! D'you think I'm old Methuselum? Still, all the same, I sort o' know Old Abe, but I don't mean to blow.

YES, sir! It's always seemed to me I've known Abe Lincoln, seein' he Is jest my sort—the friendly kind And neighbor-like. He wouldn't mind, I reckon, now, if he was here, Jest settin' in that very cheer You're in; he'd cross his long, lean props And talk with me about my crops.

HE never was stuck up, I think, Abe wasn't. Bet he'd come and drink A glass o' cider here with us And never mind about the muss The children make. By hokey! Well, I bet he'd jest set there and tell A story, same as you or Bill, And laugh about it fit to kill!

ABE LINCOLN was so human! Why, I've read a lot about these high Up fellers, sech as princes, kings And dukes and emperors and things. That there Napoleon Bonypart Could lick the earth, but had no heart. Abe Lincoln, he was diff'rent; he Was human, same as you and me.

ABE wasn't spoilt by power and place. Why, you can read that in his face, So kindly-like, as if he had A mission to make people glad, And yet a sort o' sadness, too, As if he felt put out and blue Because folks suffered. Sometimes I, A-studyin' Abe, purt' nearly cry.

AND so I've hung his picture there 'Longside o' dad's, for, I declare, It seems like me and Lincoln might Be kinfolks, and I love the sight O' him along with dad and mother, Aunt Mary, Caroline and other Folks really in my fam'ly line, For Abe's a pers'nal friend o' mine.

BIG EATERS GET KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take a glass of Salts before Breakfast if your Back hurts or Bladder bothers you.

The American men and women must guard constantly against Kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out; they weaken from overwork, become sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy, nervous spells, acid on stomach, or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a teaspoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water beverage, and belongs in a mistake by having a good kidney every home, because nobody can make flushing any time.

FEW FOLKS HAVE GRAY HAIR NOW

Well-known local druggist says everybody is using old-time recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Hair that loses its color and lustre, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmother made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who value that even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe.

Nowadays we get this famous mixture by asking at any drug store for a 50 cent bottle of "Wreth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," which darkens the hair so naturally, so evenly, that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. Besides it takes off dandruff, stops scalp itching and falling hair. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; but what delights the ladies with Wreth's Sage and Sulphur is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also brings back the gloss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance. Banker McRoberts On Our Foreign Trade

Samuel McRoberts, vice president of the National City Bank, who was placed in that, the largest national bank in the United States, to represent the Armour interests of Chicago. It was understood, told how a foreign trade of the United States might be built up when he talked to the National Chamber of Commerce the other day. Already the National City Bank has established branches in Rio Janeiro and Buenos Ayres to facilitate foreign trade. This is what Mr. McRoberts had to say on the subject:

"In the Orient, in the Caribbean, in the northern part of South America, in Mexico, we have the opportunity to do great constructive work, and by so doing win a place of our own in the future commerce of these lands. The uncertainty of protection stands squarely in the way."

"No broad and comprehensive campaign will be possible without the same certainty of support and protection that is afforded by the foreign offices of every world power but our own."

"What we need is a settled and dependable policy, and under our form of government no policy can be constant unless based upon a compelling public opinion. When any action toward the aid of commerce through a plan that might involve this country politically with any foreign power has been proposed or instituted the public has balked and the plan has failed."

"We will eventually win a dependable foreign policy, but not until the general public comes to recognize that foreign trade is an inseparable part of domestic trade; that it is not a gamble for the few, but the business of the nation."

"We will eventually win a dependable foreign policy, but not until the general public comes to recognize that foreign trade is an inseparable part of domestic trade; that it is not a gamble for the few, but the business of the nation."

ABRAHAM LINCOLN ON INTERNATIONAL PEACE.

In the spring of 1862 successes by the Union forces engaged in combating the southern efforts to divide the Union led President Lincoln to issue the following proclamation:

"It has pleased Almighty God to vouchsafe signal victories to the land and naval forces engaged in suppressing an internal rebellion and at the same time to avert from our country the dangers of foreign intervention and invasion."

"It is therefore recommended to the people of the United States that at their next weekly assemblies in their accustomed places of public worship which shall occur after notice of this proclamation shall have been received they especially acknowledge and render thanks to our Heavenly Father for these inestimable blessings, that they then and there implore spiritual consolation in behalf of all who have been brought into affliction by the casualties and calamities of sedition and civil war and that they reverently invoke the divine guidance for our national councils, to the end that they may speedily result in the restoration of peace, harmony and unity throughout our borders."

AND HASTEN THE ESTABLISHMENT OF FRATERNAL RELATIONS AMONG ALL THE COUNTRIES OF THE EARTH."

Rheumatism Beaten

Local Case Shows How Terrible Malady May Be Conquered.

Miss Mary J. Kagey, of 28 Western Ave., Newark, O., says, "I suffered so bad with Rheumatism in my limbs that for a long time it was impossible for me to walk. I was also bothered a great deal with Rheumatism in both hands. The pain was terrible. At times I thought I could not stand it. Nothing gave me relief. Finally I was told to try Lloyd's Kidney & Rheumatism Tablets, the new scientific prescription. I started to take them a few months ago and now I am entirely relieved. European Market Forces Wheat to Sag in Chicago

(Associated Press Telegram)
Chicago, Feb. 11.—Wheat sagged in price today, influenced by lower quotations from Liverpool. The market was also bearish, affected by assertions that country offerings showed considerable increase. Furthermore, the possibility of enlarged Russian shipments from Archangel and Vladivostok appeared to be attracting somewhat serious attention instead of being generally brushed aside as when first talked of. The opening here, which varied from 5-8 to 11-2c lower, was followed by a decided further setback.

Slowness of domestic and foreign demand weakened corn. Depression in wheat continued also against the bulls. After opening 1-4c to 1-2c down, the market rallied to a moderate extent, but then sank lower than before.

Noted that one of the principal factors had cancelled an embargo against export shipments of oats helped to make the oats market relatively firm. Prices, however, sympathized gradually with the course of other grain.

Provisions held fairly steady notwithstanding lower prices for hogs. There seemed to be but little pressure to sell.

WOMAN REFUSES OPERATION

Tells How She Was Saved by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Louisville, Ky.—"I think if more suffering women would take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound they would enjoy better health. I suffered from a female trouble, and the doctors decided I had a tumorous growth and would have to be operated upon, but I refused as I do not believe in operations. I had fainting spells, bloated, and could hardly stand the pain in my left side. My husband insisted that I try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am so thankful I did, for I am now a well woman. I sleep better, do all my housework and take long walks. I never fail to praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for my good health."—Mrs. J. M. Rusc, 1900 West Broadway, Louisville, Ky.

Since we guarantee that all testimonials which we publish are genuine, it is not fair to suppose that if Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has the virtue to help these women it will help any other woman who is suffering in a like manner?
If you are ill do not drag along until an operation is necessary, but at once take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

CAN CONTEST

The bill and the house committee agreed to collaborate with him. It is expected the Lagitt absent voting bill will be smothered in committee on the ground that it is too complicated.

Members of the committee favored a measure which would allow a voter to cast his ballot at the county board of elections office before election day if he expects to be away then.

The senate elections committee today voted unanimously to recommend that Senator Lloyd of Franklin and Beckett of Hickory, both Democrats, be allowed to retain their seats. Their election, together with the Franklin county representatives had been contested in the "honest elections" committee of Columbus.

The fate of the cigarette in Ohio rests with the house of representatives.

The house public health committee today decided to report out the Danderine bill, prohibiting the sale or manufacture of cigarettes within the state without recommendation. The committee also voted to report with recommendation for passage the Hoyer bill, prohibiting ice splitting by physicians and regulating strictly advertising by physicians. The bill providing for placing the bureau of vital statistics under supervision of the board of health instead of the secretary of state as at present, also was recommended for passage, despite vigorous opposition of the secretary of state's office.

A Lincoln Story With a Point.

During the civil war some gentlemen from the west obtained an interview with President Lincoln at a time when things looked dark for the national cause and voiced their fears. The president said to them: "Suppose, gentlemen, all the property that you were worth was in gold and you had put it in the hands of Blondin to carry across the Niagara river on a rope, would you shake the cable and keep shooting to him, 'Blondin, stand up a little straighter—go a little faster—lean a little more to the north or to the south?' No, you would hold your breath, as well as your tongue, and keep your hands off until he was over" the books and personal belongings that have gained a priceless value from their association with the memory of the martyr president.

Not far away from the martyr president's former home are his last resting place and monument.

We live in the Amazon Region.

In the Jauuary region of the Amazon the natives use a crude system of wireless telegraphy, which, it is claimed, has been in operation for thousands of years. The transmitter found by an explorer was a hollowed trunk of a tree suspended from a horizontal pole stretched between two stumps. Inside the transmitter had been arranged much like a violin, and it was explained that when the instrument was struck smartly with a small rubber hammer a vibration was created that carried for miles over the hills. The receiver is very similar to the transmitter, except it is placed on a hardwood platform, the base of the hollowed tree trunk being grounded on the platform. When the message is struck in the neighboring village, sometimes thirty miles away, this receiver catches the vibrations, causing a jerky, singing sound. The sound system, it is said, can be read by the members of the tribe, and in this way news of victories and other happenings are told throughout the countryside.—Argonaut.

Washing Day in Sicily.
The Sicilians have the reputation of not washing themselves overfrequently, but if they are remiss in this respect they more than make up for it by washing their garments—washing, in fact, being a parental occupation among the women. The songs of the women folk as they scrub the clothes of their husbands and children outside the doors of their homes, if living in a city, or in some brook or running stream, if living in the country, are a noticeable feature of lower class Sicilian life.

The long spikes on the prickly pear leaves and aloe plants make splendid natural pegs on which to dry the clothes, and in all the rural districts you will see them thus utilized, but if they do not happen to be sufficiently handy the clothes are often stretched out upon the mountain side to dry. The occupation and recreation of most of the poorer women may be summed up in three words—washing and gossip.—Wide World Magazine.

The Star Alcione.
The size of the star Alcione and its distance from the sun are both unknown and, so far as can now be seen, must remain unknown. It has no parallax large enough to be measured by the most accurate modern micrometric methods.

That is, take a large telescope with you, go to Alcione, turn, look back this way, then the entire diameter of the orbit of the earth around the sun, a huge ellipse, 185,765,000 miles in diameter, if a bright line in space so that it could be seen, would appear to be so small that the telemicroscope could not measure it. Not knowing the distance, the size cannot be known.

But, judging from its light when compared with that of other stars whose distances are fairly well known, it must be colossal—many times larger than our medium sized star, the sun.—New York American.

Art Criticism.

It is related that almost the last work Sir Edwin Landseer was engaged on was a life sized picture of Nell Gwyn passing through an archway on a white palfrey. This picture, in which the horse alone was finished, was bought by one of the Rothschild family and given to Sir John Mills to complete. One morning a celebrated art critic called on the painter and was much impressed by this work. "Ah, to be sure," he said, going up close and examining a deerhound in the foreground of the picture; "how easily one can recognize Landseer's dogs! Wonderful, isn't it?" "Yes; it is wonderful!" said Sir John, lighting his pipe. "I finished painting that dog yesterday morning and have done the whole of it myself."

German Army Shoes.

Leather used for German army shoes is the result of many tests. It is rather dry compared with American vegetable tanned leather. However, it is made dry so that the oxidizing oils and fats will not rot the leather fiber during the many years that it may be held in storage. Every soldier when he gets his army shoes also gets a can of shoe dressing, with which he dresses his shoes. This keeps them pliable and water resisting. The boots are crimped. They have only two seams. They are practically water tight. The thread used for stitching them is hard waxed. The absence of blackings of any nature tends to save the life of the boot. It rejects the sun's rays too.—Hide and Leather.

Argentina's Natural Bridge.

In Argentina there is a natural bridge that is one of the most wonderful in the world. It spans the Rio Mendoza and is known as the Luca bridge. It is the work of nature and not, as was once popularly supposed, of the Incas. The road on which it occurs was probably a highway made by the Peruvian Incas, who took advantage of the phenomenon by leading their road over this natural viaduct.

Organized German Red Cross.

Dr. Bernhard Dernburg, former Imperial Secretary of State for the Colonies, who is now in the United States on behalf of Germany, is one of the foremost men of his country. He is well acquainted with American historical, political, economic, financial and social conditions, as he received his early training in the New York office of Ladenburg, Thalmann & Co., bankers, and since that time has been a frequent visitor to the United States. When he was German Imperial Secretary for the Colonies Dr. Dernburg spent eight weeks in this country investigating the cotton question with a view of applying American plantation methods to cotton in the German colonies.

In 1913 on the occasion of the Emperor's jubilee Dr. Dernburg was called into the Prussian house of lords as a life member. This was a matter of special royal confidence. Dr. Dernburg is honorary doctor of the political science faculty of Munich and of the law faculty of Koenigsberg. The Berlin faculty has also made him an honorary doctor of law. His activities at home in recent years have been in the interest of municipal questions, especially for the betterment of the housing of the poorer classes.

Dr. Dernburg came to the United States in August, 1914, in order to organize the German Red Cross society, and his work has been very successful.

The W.H. Mazey Co.

company went wrong, the city would have the means of bringing pressure to bear to remedy the trouble.

Jesse A. Flory, local attorney spoke in defense of municipal ownership. He said that history was repeating itself in the city today. He said that several years ago, the city contracted for street lights from a corporation, owned by a few. He said before that time, that the city had been robbed by a corporation who charged $3 per thousand cubic feet for artificial gas. That matters were made worse by a contract for electric lights at $110 each. There was continual agitation and litigation. Finally, a few people got together and decided to have the city control the monopoly. This resulted in reducing the price per light to $30. Then when the city installed its own plant it was found that the current for lights and all expenses was costing the $75 per light.

"The city could throw the present plant on the scrap heap now," said Mr. Flory, "and still be far enough ahead to pay for six or seven similar plants. It is true that some of the bonds are still outstanding but this is due to the fact that the continual fighting of the city by corporations had weakened the city's finances and that the long term bonds were necessary. Keep the municipal plant. If politics are played to the detriment of the municipal plants, the voters still have the power to kick out the officers and elect new ones. If it's a corporation, you can't do it."

He referred to the water plant, the gas situation and other local experiences. He declared that the light and power company was already showing its power. He said it made a contract with citizens who had their homes wired, agreeing to furnish current for a minimum charge of 25 cents per month. Then, he declared, they "sneaked" into the city council and secured an ordinance permitting them to advance this minimum 100 per cent or 50 cents per month. That city council did not do as the present council has done, advise the citizens of what was proposed and ask for an expression of opinion. "I want to thank council for giving us poor devils a chance to enlighten them as to our opinions," declared Mr. Flory. He promised a referendum if the council voted to make a contract with the light and power company.

President Keller called upon H. L. Montgomery, W. A. Robbins and F. S. Wright, all three declined to talk. J. R. Fitzgibbon was called upon and stepped to the front of the auditorium. The audience called upon him to step up on the stage. The calls became insistent and Mr. Fitzgibbon held up his hands for silence while President Keller rapped for order.

"What I have to say," said Mr. Fitzgibbon when things quieted down, "may not meet with your approval. I may want to beat a hasty retreat and I don't want the way to the door blocked."

"It might be a good thing to rehearse past history," he said, "but the past is dead. We are confronted with a real live issue, whether it is best to buy current or rehabilitate the old plant and make it ourselves. Let us be fair to ourselves. I'll admit that I am employed by the Ohio Light and Power company and that they are good clients. I make this statement, that we may start out on a fair basis."

"I believe that I know more about the light question than my friend Flory. The gas question, I will discuss tomorrow in the court room, not here tonight."

"What is best and cheapest for the city, I don't care whether 25 years ago some corporation made a contract with the city for lights at $75 per light. What we are interested in is the present situation. What are we to do?"

"Mr. Christian first estimated the cost of the plant to be $22,000. Then the figures were revised to $29,000. Council, finding itself confused, authorized Mr. Christian most open and persistent on the question of municipal ownership and Mr. Woodward, the clerk, whose attitude is indicated by his remarks here tonight, to select an expert to make an estimate of the cost of reconstructing the plant and furnishing current for the city's lights."

"It is safe to assume that Mr. Christian and Mr. Woodward would not select a man unfriendly to their proposition and it is also safe to assume that the expert obtained the most favorable figures on the cost. His estimate submitted to council says that the city by reconstructing the plant can produce the current for 1.35 cents. Then the Ohio Light and Power Company has offered the same current at 1.15 cents. It is true that the light and power company is a corporation but give the corporations credit for what they do. I would like to ask the men assembled here what they would do if it were not for corporations."

"What would you do. You gentlemen of the council, are trustees of the citizens of Newark and have no right to do anything but what is best for the citizens. When the plain question is put up to you, of manufacturing the current at a cost of 1.35 cents or buying it at 1.15 cents, your duty is plain."

"One man has said that if politics are eliminated in the management of the plant, it should be economical. So say I. But who here can tell who will be in charge of that light plant in two years from now. I'll grant that Service Director Christian is a capable operator for the light plant. But so over the list of those who have been in charge of the plant in the last ten years and you'll find men more capable of running a lively stable than a light plant."

"I want to say that if this contract—it's not a franchise—is not satisfactory and the Ohio Light & Power company doesn't live up to its part of the contract, it can be cancelled without going into a court of equity."

At this point Mr. Fitzgibbon and Mr. Flory engaged in a discussion of court decisions bearing on this feature of the case.

In concluding his remarks Mr.

GIVING OUT.

The Struggle Discourages Many a Citizen of Newark.

Around all day with an aching back.
Can't rest at night;
Enough to make any one "give out."

Doan's Kidney Pills are helping thousands.
They are for kidney backache;
And other kidney ills.

Here is Newark proof of their merit:

Mrs. W. Sherrard, 28 North Ave., Newark, says: "I had kidney complaint and suffered a great deal from my back. Often when I was doing my housework I had pains across my loins and they were so severe that I had to lie down. I read about Doan's Kidney Pills and what they had done for others, and decided to try them, procuring a supply at East's Drug Store. Soon after using them, I was benefited. This was over a year ago and I haven't been troubled by kidney complaint since. Another of the family has used Doan's Kidney Pills with good results."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Sherrard had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

Fitzgibbon said that the city council's duty was plain. They ought to do, he said, that thing which any good business man would do, choose the most economical proposition.

Harry P. Scott asked Director Christian a number of questions, some of which were answered satisfactorily. He agreed to meet Mr. Christian soon, when Mr. Christian had had an opportunity to figure on questions asked by Mr. Scott and exchange information.

The discussion between Mr. Scott and Mr. Christian revealed that the meters at the light plant were not accurate and that the readings from these meters could not be regarded as a sound basis for calculations. Mr. Christian explained that the meters were installed several years ago and that the city had not felt it necessary to have meters, inasmuch as it was manufacturing its own current. He said that the Ohio Light & Power company would not sell its current to be registered by these meters and that it was unfair to use their registrations in figuring the cost of current.

Mr. Morgan asked the cost per lamp at the rate offered by the Ohio Light and Power company. Mr. Christian figured that the cost would be a little more than $22 per light.

A. A. Stasel declared himself in favor of municipal ownership, but advised against the additional burden of bonds. He said that if the city could show that it could provide the plant and furnish the current at a lower rate than that offered by the light company, then build, otherwise buy the current.

Mr. Stasel's talk was a forceful unbiased appeal for a sane action on the question. He said that council should not be influenced by prejudiced opinions expressed during the meeting.

Immediately before adjournment, Col. Rosebrough moved that a vote of thanks be extended to the city council for inviting the citizens to take part in a public discussion of the matter. The motion was heartily carried.

REFERENDUM WOULD COST ABOUT $30

Should the municipal light question be referred to the voters under the referendum law, the expense to the city would be about $30 according to figures given by Clerk Michael Sachs clerk of the board of elections. The heaviest part of the expense, printing of ballots and paying the salaries of clerk hire and judges, which would amount to $300 to $400 would be paid out of the county fund.

The only expense to be paid from city funds would be the rental of seven precinct voting places and the hauling to and from voting places of booths and equipment for eight precincts. The first item would amount to $17.10, the second about $10.

If the voters are registered by the board of elections at their office, there will be no extra expense for this.

There is every indication at present that the matter will be presented to the voters by referendum, whatever action is taken by council and both sides declare that they will resort to this measure, if council's action is contrary to their wish.

MAY COMPLETE BASEBALL DEALS SOMETIME TODAY

(Associated Press Telegram)
New York, Feb. 11.—Several deals for players that have been subjects of negotiations for several weeks, were expected to be completed sometime today before the National league club owners and managers depart for their homes. Manager Charles L. Herzog, of the Cincinnati Reds, was to hold a conference with Pat Moran, the manager of the Phillies, and complete the deal for Catcher Doolin.

Moran, not so long ago, traded the Cincinnati first baseman, Phil Hughes, to the Cincinnati Reds for a cash player. The player will be turned over to Moran today and it is believed that Bert Niehoff, the third baseman, is the man. Roger Bresnahan, manager of the Cubs, also wants Niehoff and has made several offers for him.

Herzog also expected to confer with Manager Huggins of the St. Louis Cardinals and arrange the final details of the deal for Catcher Wingo.

The Death of Lincoln.

(By MARITHA WINTERMUTE)

The writer of the following poem was living near Elizabethtown (Perryton) on a farm, and well remembers all the circumstances described in the verses. The daily newspapers began to be published in some cities during the Civil War, but don't be deceived in concluding that Newark had one. The mail came to Perryton once a week—and what daily papers were procured were brought to us by men hired for the purpose. The best way to get fresh news, was to go to Newark after it.

I was newly married at that time, and I stood in our farmhouse door, when the stranger on horseback rode up like mad and cried out, "Lincoln was shot last night by an assassin." He did not pause to give any particulars, but hurried on to the next farm, which belonged to James Seward (a still living); then entered the village and gave the alarm. The people arose as one and started for Newark, some on foot even. Of course there was soon a great throng in the country seat, which was draped in mourning for our beloved president.

A telegram flashed and burned through the land.
"Lincoln is dead!" An assassin's hand
Had slain our chief, and messengers flew.

To carry the tidings the country through,
(To the outlying districts, so to speak,
Where the regular mail came but once a week.)

One rode to our village Elizabethtown,
And, oh, to what madness our minds
Were wrought.

We would not believe the report he brought.
The farm hands gathered in from the field—
They were ploughing for corn, when
The church bells pealed.

The doleful alarm, half toll, half clang
As if with their heart strings the resonant bells.

And the village's all must hasten and go,
For could anyone tell or did anyone know,

But the war just ended, would break out again.
(And the spirit of war was not dead in our men).

For had not our village been shorn of her heroes,
Who were mouldering there in their pitiful graves?

Under the meadows, where no grass had yet grown?
The "Lemert Post" can tell of those men.

Where every springtime, their flowers are strewn,
And the tale grows not old with the years.

No village gave more of her treasure and tears
Than Elizabethtown—called Perryton now.

They have changed the dear name, but wherefore or how?
But the hearts stirred deeper that tragic morn.

When the tidings of death to the world was borne,
So to Newark, the city, the county seat,
Half doubting, half, fearing, the men must rush

To stand with the throng in a solemn hush:
And a gloom of crepe hung from street
to street.

And the flag on the courthouse drooped
sadly down.
As our men rode in from Elizabethtown.

In Newark, among us, were men of repute,
There were captains and colonels and General Wood.

In uniform dressed, and in gravest mood,
They grouped together, with heads bowed down.

And warlike they looked as they silently stood.
Rarely ever as one on the noble name
That has risen so high in the annals of fame.

When I speak of our village, as I have called Perryton now by the younger folks,
Who speak of her heroes, I number
men.

Who were starved to death in the prison pen,
I number men who crawled home to die.

To tell of horrors no mortal could brook,
But the war had ended and one by one
From the barracks and camps, came
The boys in blue.

They were rough and worn, but their hearts were true,
And each seemed eager to shoulder his gun.

It need be, now that Lincoln was slain,
And enter the perils of war again.
Oh, a spirit of vengeance flashed up into flame.

For the soldier boys worshipped their leader's name.
It seemed we had never considered before
The weight of the burdens that chieftain bore.

Till that fated morning, no one ever knew
How great was our Lincoln, how honored,
Though destined the forces of carnage to wield.

Soul full of compassion for friend and
for foe,
He lived with the men that must die
on the field.

And just as the struggle was ended
he fell.
When beautiful peace was smiling again.

A pall settled over the world with his knell.
But Lincoln had rather lie slain with his men.

Than to live on in triumph. The Master who knows
Gave the high crowning glory—a soldier's repose.

BOUCK WHITE

"The Industrial Democrat" Christianity Took Its Rise in an Economic Upheaval" is to be the subject of Mr. Bouck White's lecture at the High School Auditorium tonight. To one who has read any of Mr. White's books, no explanation may be necessary, but to those who have not yet been fortunate enough to have read his "Call of the Carpenter," "The Mixing," etc., it might be said that no lecturer in this country has received the ovations that Mr. White has received upon this last lecture tour from New York to St. Louis.

It is the hope of the club bringing him to Newark that the Auditorium may be filled to its capacity.

Read Advocate Wants tonight.
